

Professor Kofi Quashigah

Associate Professor and Director of the Human Rights Center of the Faculty of Law, University of Ghana. He is currently the Acting Head of the Faculty of Law, University of Ghana

Professional Interests: (Teaching and Research)

Constitutional Law, Human Rights, International Humanitarian Law, Jurisprudence, Governance, Conflict Management and Alternative Dispute Resolution(ADR) .Adjudged and Honoured as the Best Teacher in the Humanities in the University of Ghana.

Consultancies undertaken include; UNICEF/Ministry of Education, consultancy work on Legal Framework For The Right To Pre-Tertiary Education In Ghana-2001.Consultant to National Governance Programme (under the UNDP Consolidating Democratic Governance Programme). He also worked on the World Bank funded project for the Introduction of ADR in Ghana in collaboration with Nene Amegatcher and Mrs. Justice Georgina Wood (now Chief Justice).

He had participated in a training session on Conflict Resolution at the Fifth Annual International Seminar on Arms Control and Disarmament- 10th – 23rd September, 1997 at the Baker Institute, Juniata College, Williamsburg, Pennsylvania, USA.

Authorship: Co-editorship of the book, “Legitimate Governance in Africa”, published by Kluwer Publishers in 1999.

Professor Kofi Quashigah is the incumbent President of the Ghana Association of Certified Mediators and Arbitrators.

Marital Status: Married with three (3) children.

It may interest you to know that Prof. Quashigah is an avid farmer and was adjudged the best citrus farmer in Akwapim North District for 2006.